School of Nursing

The Delta College Division of Nursing, by offering the associate degree program, is helping to alleviate the growing shortage of nurses. Under the direction of Dr. Luis Folgueras, there has been a revision of the curriculum, integrating the sciences, and incorporating growth and development with the nursing course. The number of credit hours needed for graduation has been decreased to better align the nursing program to the education pattern of a junior college.

By means of classroom lecture and selected hospital experiences, under the supervision of the Delta nursing faculty, the student is able to obtain first hand knowledge and practice in the art of bedside care of patients.

After completing the required courses, and receiving an Associate Degree in Applied Science, the graduate is eligible to sit for the State Board Examinations in Nursing. These same examinations are taken by the graduates of three and four year schools. Upon successfully passing this exam, and earning the proud title of "Registered Nurse," he or she can fill a position in a hospital, doctor's office, or clinic with the assurance of doing a competent job.

Although the graduate of the associate degree program is not trained to function in a supervisory capacity, with experience, time, and additional education, this too can be accomplished.

LIBRARY

The Library of Delta College is the central study area and operates as an integral part of the educational program. Books, magazines newspapers, and other types of library materials are available for student and faculty use. At present the collection numbers more than 50,000 volumes with back files of periodicals maintained either in bound print or on microfilm.

Janice Stostad

Agatha Zvirbulis

Missing: Dorothy Horwath, Zigrida Vilks, Linda DeWitt, Connie Dixon, Connie Manyen, Marjorie Palmer.

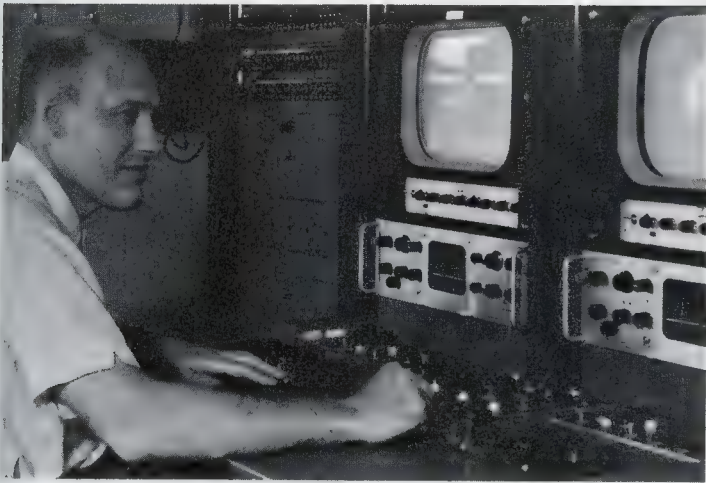

Director of Television, WILLIAM BALLARD.

TELEVISION HEADQUARTERS, nerve center of Delta's open-circuit station, CHANNEL 19.

RONALD BLACK, Television Executive Producer-Director, checks content of Delta closed-circuit programs.

RAY WOODS, Chief Engineer, Television, monitors a closed-circuit program.

Television Department

1964 was a big year for the Delta College Television Department. In October Delta went on the air with an educational television station operating on Channel 19. Included in improvements are a new General Electric transmitter, a transmission tower and a video tape recording machine. Programs such as a Nursing Care Series, an Economics series, the History Department and the Delta Choir appear on the air.

ROBERT MALOY, production assistant, readies equipment for a closed-circuit television lecture.

Diane Phelps above, a Delta College co-op, works in the Billing Department of the Dow Corning Corporation, Midland. She is shown working on a machine that teletypes materials in Dow Corning offices all over the United States.

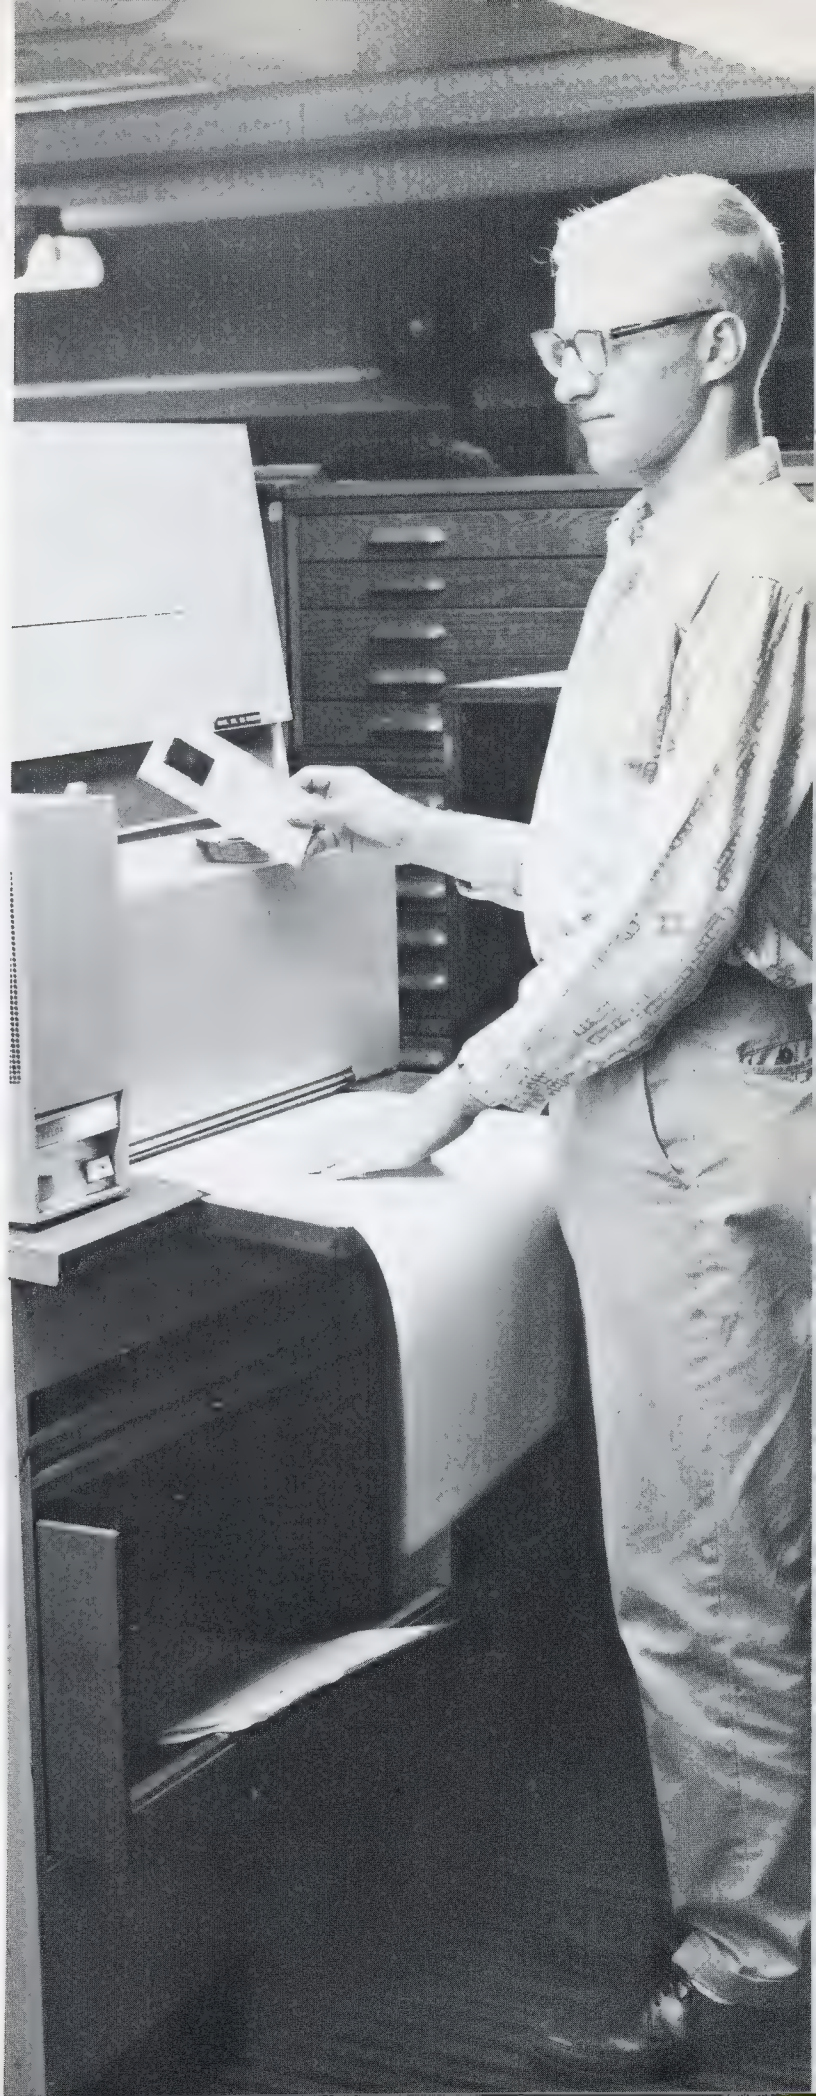

Robert Hoppe, below, a Delta College co-op student at Saginaw Steering Gear, is shown checking the Micro-structure of a high carbon steel in the Metallurgical Department of The Steering Gear plant.

CO-OP

Delta College has nearly 400 students working in their Co-operative Education Program. These students are in business, engineering, mechanical technology, chemical technology, medical technology, pharmacy, building materials and management, technical architecture, and many others. We have pictured in this book only a sampling as the Delta College students are working in 115 different factories, offices and businesses. These co-ops are in Detroit, and six other states, as well as in the Saginaw Valley. Director of Co-operative Education at Delta is Palmer Kern.

Myron Maxson, a Delta College co-op, is shown reproducing prints from aperture cards in the Reproduction Department of the Baker Perkins Saginaw Plant.

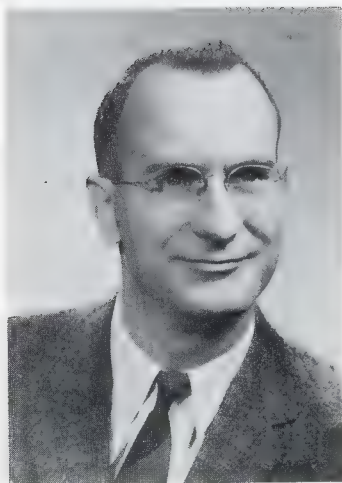

ROBERT STUART

EVENING COLLEGE

Most courses offered in day programs are also available during evening hours together with a variety of special classes not offered on the day schedule. A comprehensive program of testing, counseling, and guidance assists evening college enrollees in program planning and assures that all rules and requirements governing community college credit courses shall be commensurate and observed in both day and evening courses. Although designed primarily for the convenience of employed persons, for whom attendance at day college is frequently impossible or inconvenient, the evening college classes are attracting an increasing number of students of all ages.

ORGANIZATIONS

Linda Lockett, Fall Term President of Women's League Cabinet.

WOMEN'S LEAGUE

Women's League is an organization which serves the needs and interests of all Delta women. Each year the organization has four projects which include "Common Knowledge," the girls' Fall get-acquainted supper; the Christmas Dessert, which includes a visit from Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus; the Mr. Irresistible contest, whose winner is crowned at the Valentine's Dance; and the Mother and Daughter Tea and Style Show in the Spring.

Sue Schuster, Secretary, and Edward Cherry, Fall Term President, are campaigning for their favorites. Bill Forbes, left, is sure of his candidate.

Young Republicans

Designed to develop cooperation, and enthusiasm among Delta's Republicans, the Young Republican's Club offers an opportunity to promote the party's platform and candidates through practical political education.

PUBLIC AFFAIRS

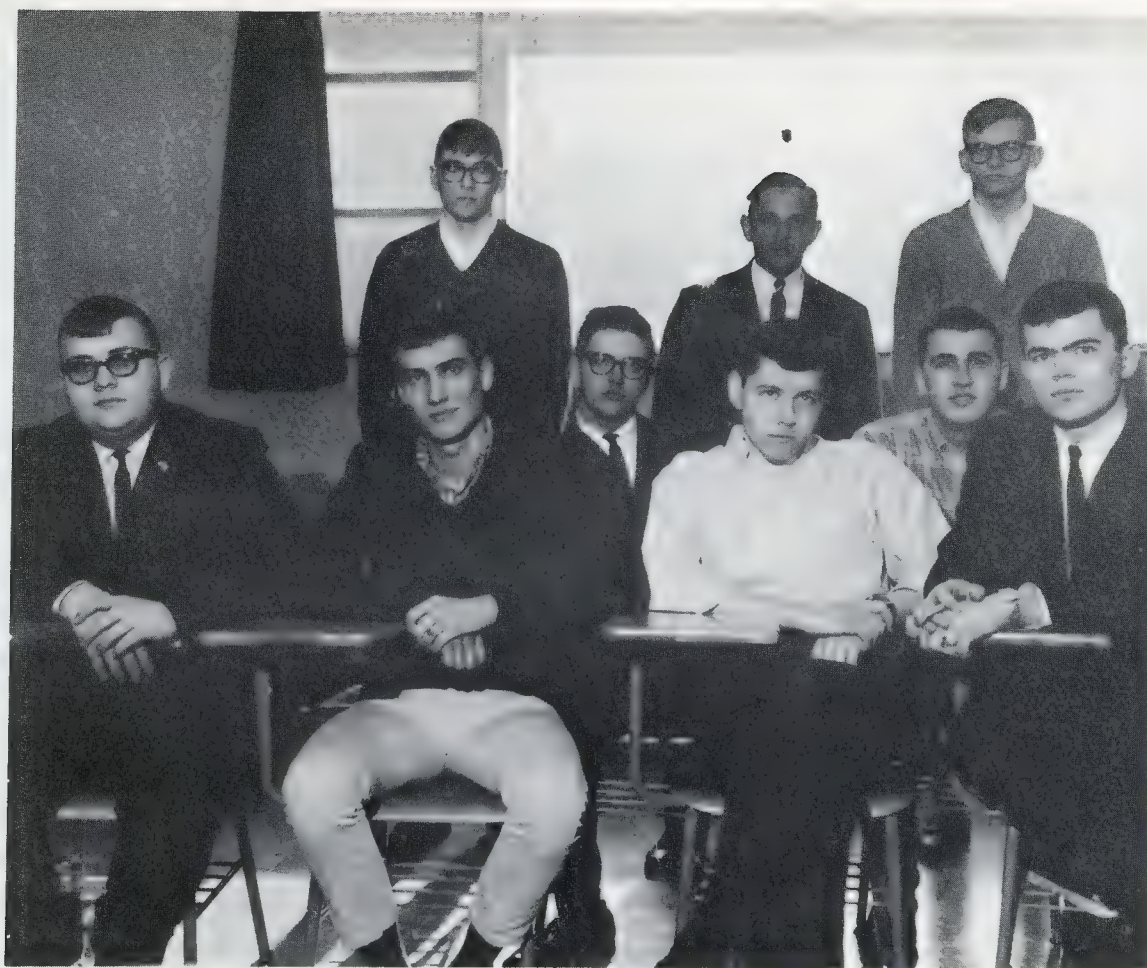

Just as the title suggests, the Public Affairs Club is concerned with matters of interest to the general public as well as those of Delta College. Many controversial subjects have been discussed this past year by speakers invited by the Club, Republican, Democrat, and otherwise.

CIRCLE K

The Circle K Club, quite active in the past, is a service club. The Club provides a means by which the men of Delta can be of service to the school and the tri-county area. Weekly meetings provided the opportunity for interested males to plan projects and social events at the college.

Young Democrats

Tim Newman, president, center, briefs fellow students on the qualities of Lyndon Baines Johnson, Senator Philip A. Hart, and congressman Sanford A. Brown, in the heat of the presidential campaign.

The Young Democrats of Delta College are those students interested in promoting and developing a responsible and efficient government, and fostering civic, social, cultural and political activities on and off campus, and supporting all Democratic candidates for public offices.

Mr. Loren Cady

CHOIR

The choir of Delta College, working under the direction of Mr. Loren Cady, performed at many of Delta's formal events during the school year. On March 18 and 19 the choir, accompanied by an orchestra of musicians from the area, presented Kurt Weill's American folk opera "Down In the Valley" to a large tri-county audience.

NUMISMATIC

The Numismatic Society unites all students interested in coins. At their meetings Delta collectors limit religious and political discussions to coinage.

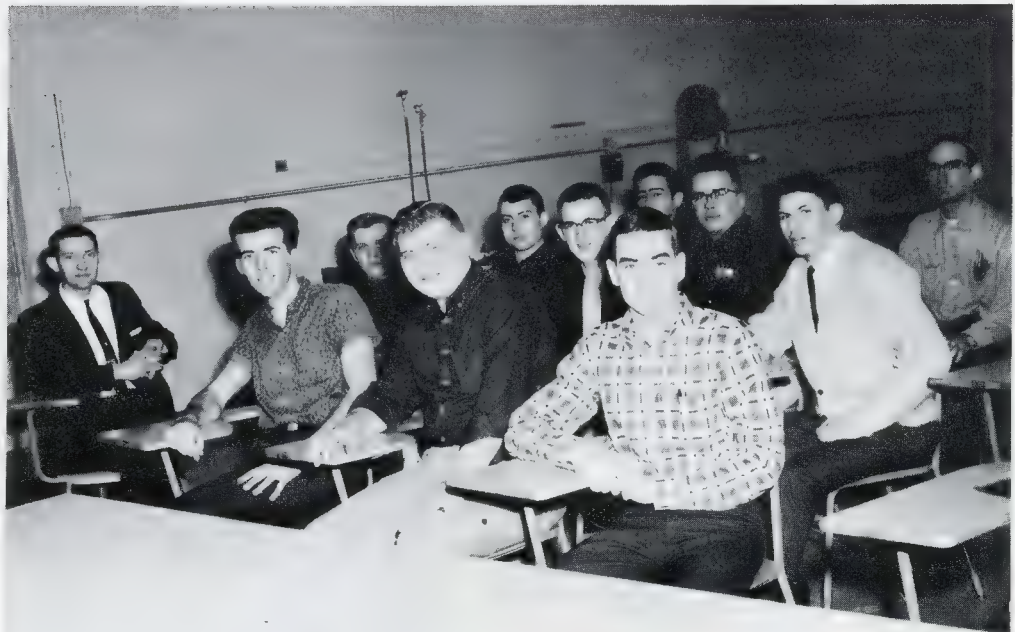

NEWMAN

The Newman Club, one of Delta's most active clubs, promotes the social, educational, and religious goals of the Catholic students on the Delta campus through bi-monthly meetings, social gatherings, and lectures given by visiting clergy.

ARCHITECTURE

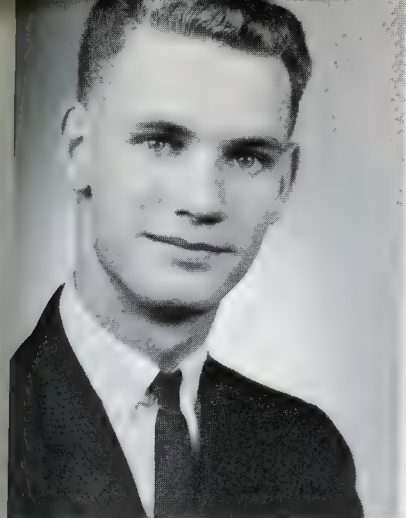

The Architecture Club promotes interest and increases the knowledge of architecture to all interested Delta students. Field trips, lectures, and projects are included in the busy activities of this club.

COLLEGE COUNCIL

Tom Corbett, Fall Term president, discusses some college council business with C. C. member Randy Campbell.

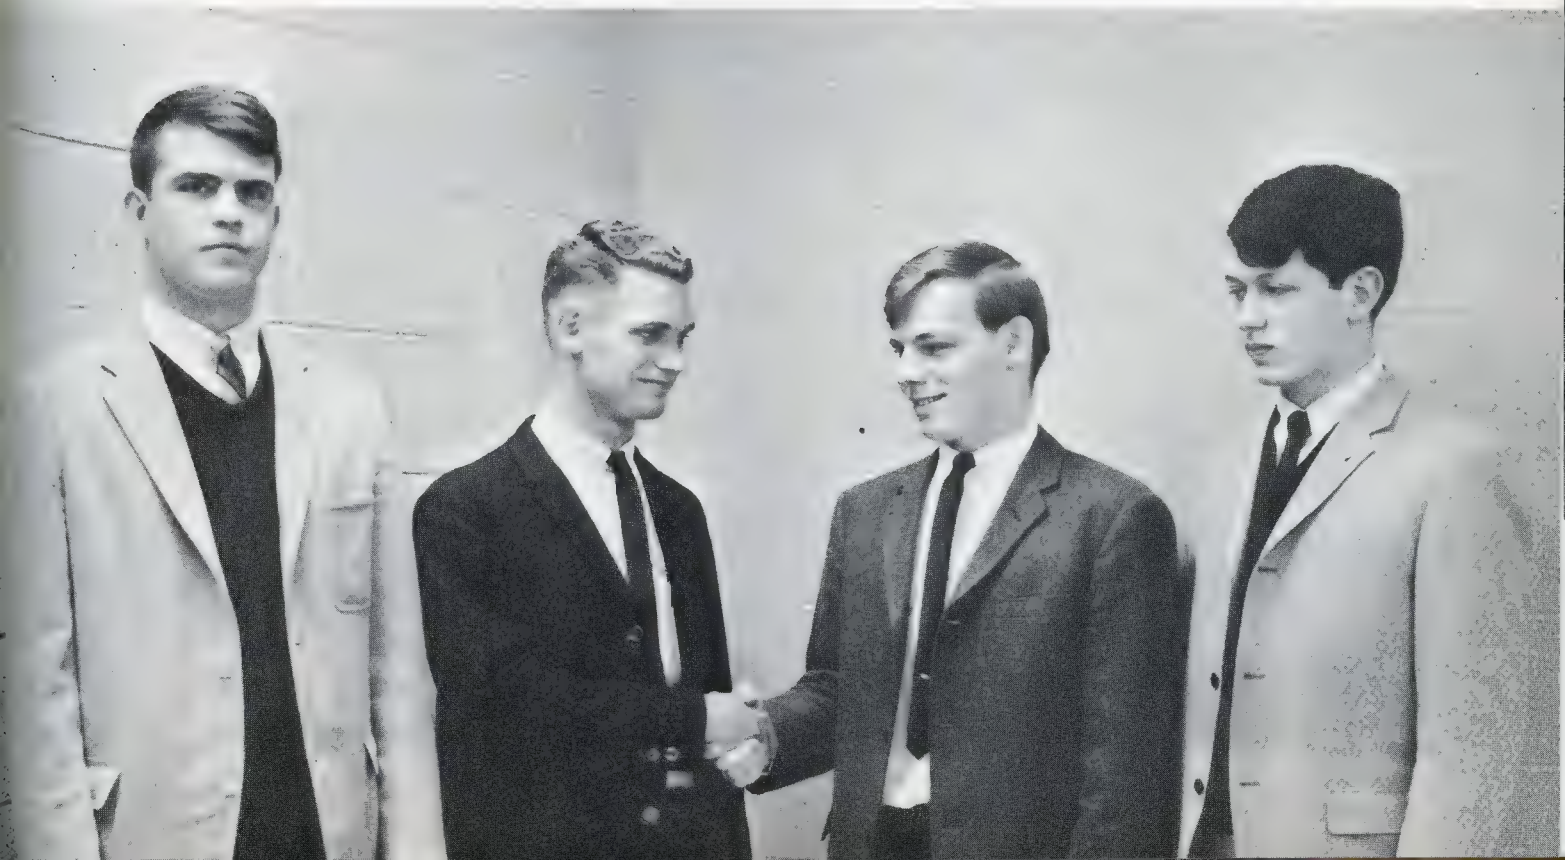

Jerry Boissonault, elected C.C. president for 1965-66.

Jeannie Brunette, C.C. member, Skip White, treasurer, and William Dunkley, interview candidate for treasurer, William Burns, on Delta's closed circuit T.V.

Ethics, left—Al Finney, president, right—Jim Leishman Vice President. The Ethnic, an active folk music group, devoted a lot of time to interest Delta students in their "pure" type of folk singing. Weekly club sessions were held on a workshop level, during which members swapped techniques and songs. Delta students and tri-city residents enjoyed the results of their work in the two concerts which were held during the year.

ETHNIC CLUB

Penny Marr, Rosemary Scherzer, and Karen Abler enjoy a folk music session in their spare time.

Al Finney entertains at an evening folk music concert.

JAZZ CLUB

Delta's Jazz Club met weekly the school year in an effort to make jazz more popular. The club promoted interest by helping people understand the different phases in the history of jazz, and bringing a well-known jazz group to Delta in the spring.

SKI CLUB

The Ski Club is another of Delta's more active groups. The club held meetings regularly and brought together all of the students interested in this outdoor activity and provided a good outlet for their enthusiasm. Several field excursions were taken, one of them during one of the worst snowstorms in Michigan.

For students interested in Journalism, Delta provides three different types of journalistic forms to choose from. The Collegiate interests students who enjoy a fast pace. The Dialogue provides all students with a place to display their literary and artistic talents. The Gnosis, Delta's yearbook, gives students a chance to show off their photographic and layout abilities.

Craig Boike, Winter Term co-editor of the Delta Collegiate, picks up a "Hot lead" via telephone.

Publications Mentor, Mrs. Virginia Morrison, has activated countless Delta students in her capacity of journalism instructor and advisor to publications.

COLLEGIATE, DIALOGUE, GNOSIS PROVIDED A VARIETY OF JOURNALISTIC EXPERIENCES

Edward Cherry, publications board chairman, shares planning session with Larry Morse, Fall Term editor of the Delta Collegiate.

Sue Schuster, Gnosis Editor, prepares copy for the 1965 edition. Sue's background includes a summer in Germany as an exchange student.

Time to Relax. Edie Bode, co-editor of the Collegiate, challenges Ken Wiggins to a fast game of chess.

SPECIAL EVENTS

ELECTION DAY

STUDENTS DON BEST DRESS

"Frosh Day," an all-college "dress down" with a trophy being awarded to the person with the most unusual dress is one of the main features of the year. Due to the enthusiasm and interest displayed, Freshman Day will be an annual event. Highlighting this day will be an all-college dance.

Geri McDaniels gets ready to cast her ballot.

ED KEY, who the judges have chosen as the best "dressed Down" student is presented with the trophy by Tom Corbett.

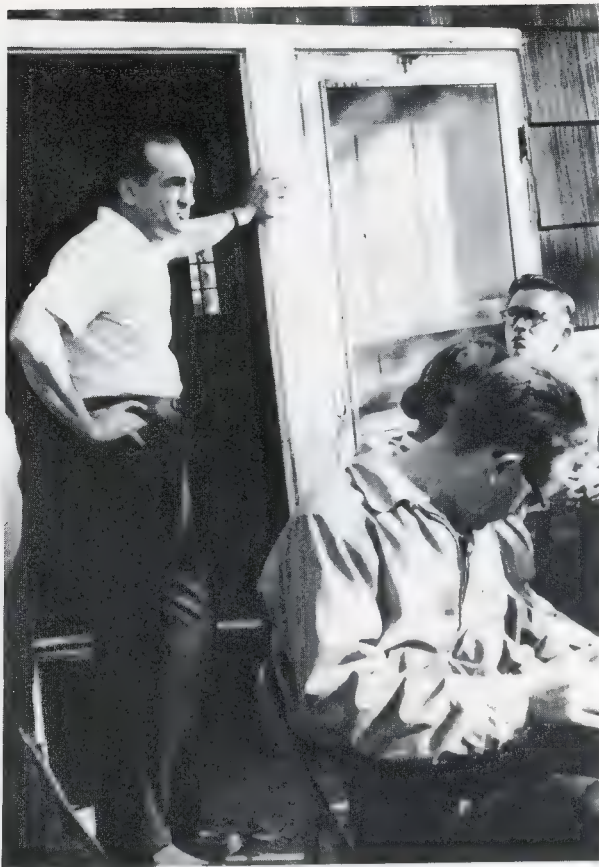

"Man, what a day!"

"Like I says to my wife, I says, 'Boy, do I need some new clothes.'"

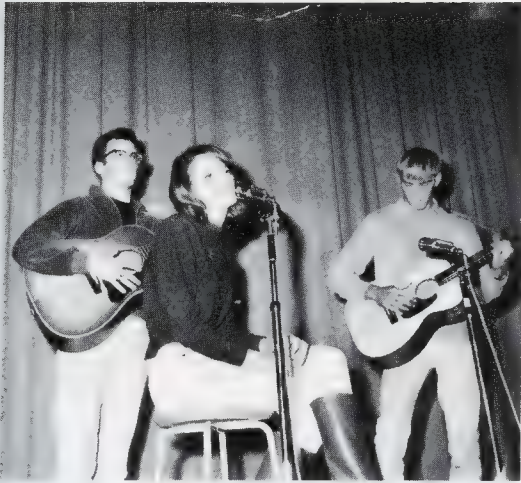

Faculty and students met once more in their annual attempt to express, discuss and evaluate mutual problems and goals. A good share of the weekend outing was devoted to just plain fun. This event is held with the hoped for result being a betterment in the cold war between faculty and students. This year's Coldwater meeting was termed a success as students and faculty returned refreshed and ready to set to work on common footing.

COLDWATER CONFERENCE

ETHNIC CONCERT

The Ethnics, a fast-growing and popular folk music group, staged its first public concert in Delta's Lecture Theatre. Even the notoriously lethargic student body turned out to see the show. Amateur sparkle blended with professional style captivated the audience, during the two hour performance. Highlighting the show were songs by Karen Abler and original arrangements by Al Finney, the groups president.

WOMEN'S LEAGUE

CHRISTMAS DESSERT

The Women's League of Delta College sponsors an annual Christmas Dessert to the delight of women faculty members, faculty wives, and women employees of the college, as well as, its women students. This year the dessert was served in the Crystal Ballroom of the Bancroft Hotel in Saginaw. Santa and Mrs. Claus, alias Mr. and Mrs. Nate Doan, presented gifts to several guests, including vitamins for Miss Eleanor Thompson, women's physical education instructor, a gold star for Miss Elizabeth Corbishlee, associate dean of students, and corn pads for Miss Sue Schuster, yearbook editor.

Santa and Mrs. Claus strike up a tune with a choir member.

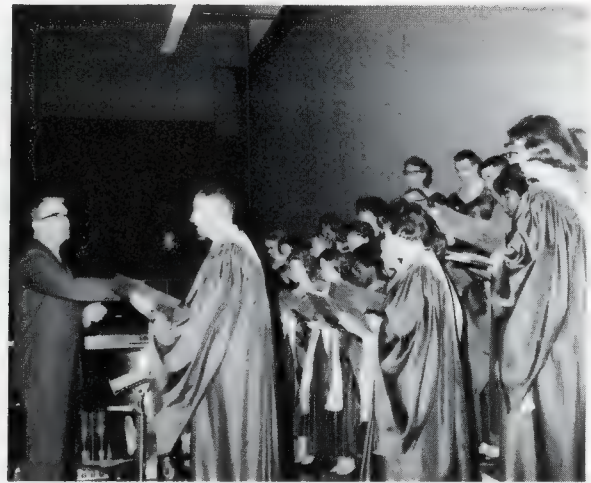

The Faculty Wives Choral Group entertains.

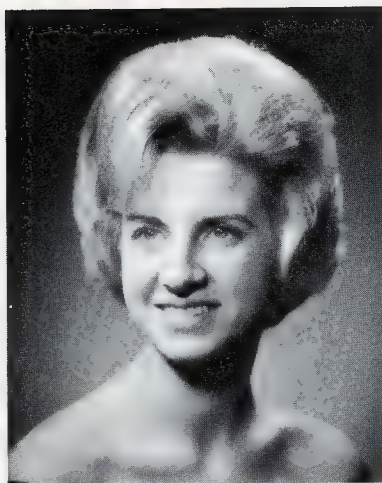

CHRISTMAS PROGRAM

A breath of fresh air after hard studying for exams was provided for all who attended Delta's Christmas Program. During the afternoon of December 18, the choir, directed by Mr. Loren Cady, presented a holiday concert to all the students assembled. A wind-instrument quartet also performed under Mr. Cady's direction. Nelson Schmidt assisted as student director, and a solo was heard by Robert Henning.

GEOLOGY FIELD TRIP

Ralph Morand inquires if he has perhaps found gold at the Bayport Quarry, on a field trip.

Geology instructor, O. Holmeister, pauses for a moment as these rocks catch his attention.

"The classroom was never like this!" states puffing students exploring geological structures for the first time.

Students get in the spirit of the field trip as they focus their attention on some interesting specimen.

Mardi Gras

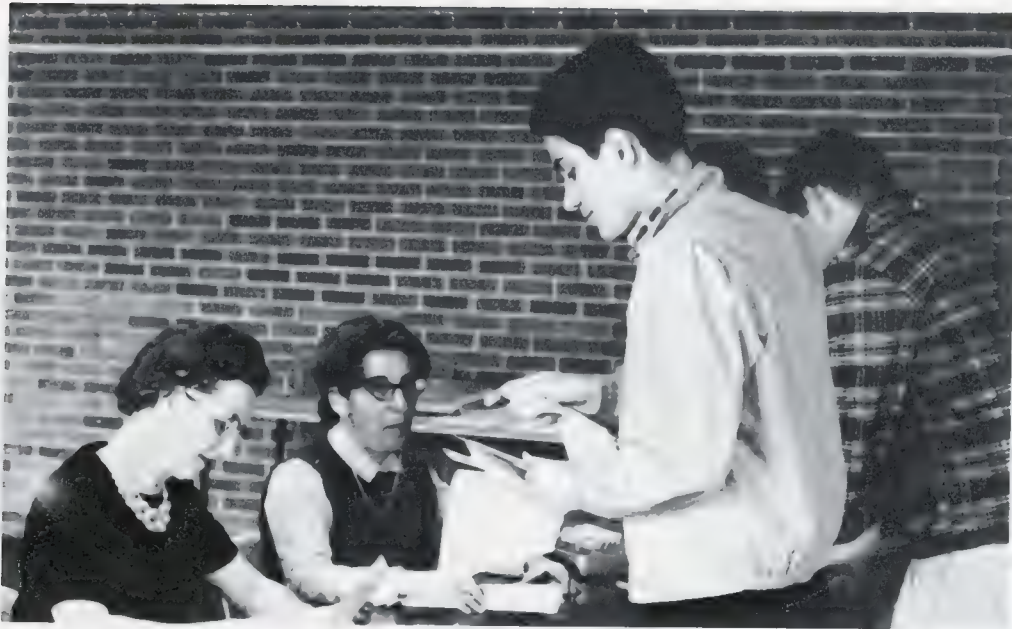

Mardi Gras, a dress down day sponsored by the Newman Club, in the Winter Term, was a welcome change from the everyday school attire. The Medallions had everyone swinging with their groovy beat. They performed for an hour in the Commons, and played for a dance in the gym. All in all, Mardi Gras proved to be an enjoyable day for everyone.

About 15 students have been enrolled in a two-year program at Delta College each year to prepare students for laboratory positions in the chemical industry.

"Learn by Work" is the slogan of some students who participate in alternate tri-semester of work at The Dow Chemical Company and their regular courses at Delta. Other students participate in a half-day-at-a-time co-op program.

The third year of the Chemical Technology program is being completed and Dow is pleased with the results. Its continuation seems assured.

Arthur Palmer of Kawkawlin is fabricating plastic laminate in the new products section of Plastics Development and Service, of The Dow Chemical Company in Midland. Palmer is a co-op at Delta.
